Public School Ready New Year's Work

High School Students Are Being Enrolled—Grades to Enroll Starting Monday

Registration of students in the Canyon high school is being held at the high school building this week.

Seniors were enrolled Tuesday; Juniors yesterday; Sophomores and Freshmen will be enrolled today.

Students in the high school who were not enrolled this week may come to the opening of the session next week.

Those who have enrolled do not report for school until Tuesday morning. All are asked to bring the NEW book cards with them Tuesday.

The busses will run Monday morning, bringing in the children from the common school districts at 10 o'clock. The busses will make the return trip at 1 o'clock.

Grade school pupils will be enrolled Monday morning.

School activities will get under way Tuesday morning. Books will be issued starting at 10 o'clock, and classes will meet during the afternoon. Regular class schedules will start Wednesday morning.

All students are required to have vaccination certificates for smallpox and innoculation certificates for diphtheria before they are enrolled in school.

Schools will observe the following time starting with the new session: Class work starts at 10 o'clock; lunch from 1 to 2 o'clock; dismiss for the day at 5 o'clock.

Harvey Truitt, teacher in the grade school, resigned to enter the army.

Alleys Are Being Cleaned Rubbish

City's Trucks Are Finding Plenty of Trash and Rubbish in All of the Alleys

"We are making progress in cleaning up the town," states Commissioner B. F. Oatis, who is in charge of the clean-up campaign.

Mr. Oatis states that he has found a few alleys in Canyon so full of trash that the city's trucks could not get through. The trucks have had to back into the alleys in order to get at the junk, but these places are being cleaned out as rapidly as possible.

Mayor W. A. Warren states that all of the city's efforts right now are being directed toward this clean up campaign. He states that the Commission appreciates the friendly co-operation which is being given as the work progresses. The campaign cannot be completed in a week, and Mr. Warren asks that the citizens give the Commissioners time to cover all of the streets and alleys.

Rubbish that can be burned should be disposed of in this manner by the citizens. Tin cans and other rubbish which will not burn should be put in boxes or sacks or in piles so that the campaign may be completed as quickly as possible.

There is no value to tin cans in the present junk campaign. Tin cans are being used only within 100 miles of a processing plant, and the closest plant is in Dallas. There is not a sufficient amount of valuable metal in tin cans to pay for their transportation more than 100 miles, according to OPA officials.

All who own vacant lots are asked to co-operate in getting the rubbish and weeds cleaned off of these lots as quickly as possible. Hundreds of new students and thousands of visitors will be in Canyon starting next week and Canyon must be cleaned up to impress them favorably.

License Renewals Must be Filed by First of October

"Tell the car drivers of Randall county not to fail in filing their application for renewal of drivers license before the first of October," stated C. R. Moore, highway patrolman while here Monday.

"All drivers' licenses in Randall county will expire by the first of November. Since it takes about 20 days to secure a renewal, all citizens should mail in their applications on or before the first of October," according to Mr. Moore. "The renewals are good for two years."

Mr. Moore states that some Randall county drivers are confused about the licenses, and those who have had their license renewed this year are calling upon him for renewal blanks. Those who have such renewals are not included in this call. Only those who have never had a renewal since the licenses were issued are called upon to make this renewal now.

Mr. Moore has left renewal blanks at all drug stores where citizens may secure them. Mr. Moore does not fill out or mail the requests, so any citizen may secure their blanks, fill them out and mail them to Austin with 50 cents without waiting for Mr. Moore, who comes here every Monday morning and spends Friday here.

Funeral Friday For Boy Drowned Late Wednesday

Funeral services for Little John Carl Robinson were held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Methodist Church with the Rev. C. C. Armstrong officiating. Interment followed in Dreamland Cemetery.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, one sister, Peggy Jean; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Avent; two great grandmothers, Mrs. George Robinson and Mrs. Clark; a great-grandfather, J. A. Currie; several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Little John Carl was drowned last Wednesday afternoon at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Avent, two and one-half miles west of Canyon. He was missing only a few minutes before Martha Jean Avent, his aunt, found him in the water tank. Although he was rushed to the hospital, it was too late. Johnny was one year, eight months and fourteen days old at the time of the accident.

The father, an uncle, Lavert, and grandfather Avent were on business trips when the accident occurred.

Canyon Flying Club To Be Responsible for Expenses: Ask For Federal Approval

Canyon citizens who are interested in aviation are asking that the college air field north of Canyon on the highway be designated as an official field.

An application for the designation was before the City Commission Tuesday.

Two meetings of local citizens interested in this project have been held during the past week. At the meeting Monday night, Geo. W. Cox, president of the Canyon Flying Club, outlined the specifications in order to secure the designation of the field.

First the field must be cleaned up; corner markers must be erected; a telephone must be put in; an official registrar and 24-hour guard service maintained at the field.

The Canyon Flying Club is willing to undertake all of the financial obligations of fulfilling these demands, stated Mr. Cox. The Club has its plane, is building a hanger, but finds that the plane cannot be kept in the hanger until these requirements are fulfilled.

Mr. Cox is an aviation enthusiast. He has bought two planes in

State Police Ask Drivers to Not Kill Children

Watch out for those school kids!

You'd forgotten about that school crossing during the summer, hadn't you? The kids are coming back now, and you'll have to watch out for them.

"Let's be thankful," State Police Director Homer Garrison said today, "that we still have schools to send our children to. Even with the benefit of education, which now is denied many peoples of the world, our kids are growing up into a world that's going to be pretty rough on them. Let's give them a break by not breaking their arms and legs and heads with our automobiles."

Lieut. Stroud will be ordered to immediate extended active duty with the Army Air Forces.

Okra Vines Measure 9 Feet in Length

B. T. Johnson states he has an okra vine in his garden which measures 9 feet 1 inch in length. Another one measures 8 feet 2 inches.

Mr. Johnson states that he has never had a finer garden than this year. He ascribes it to the fact that there has been no hot wind this year as usually hit in July. In spite of the dry spring, gardens have done splendidly because of the unusual climatic conditions.

Buffs Football Team Looks Good

Lack of Reserves Will Be Handicap: First Game With Texas Tech on September 28

An injury jinx which washed out three starting backs in the first week of practice injected an element of caution as the Buffaloes of West Texas State canceled their scheduled game-length scrimmage. A free week-end, however, was followed by intensive workouts early this week.

Casualties included Co-Captain Joed Forbus, who injured an arm too badly to permit him to work at tailback; J. W. Anderson, signal caller, who knocked down a shoulder; and Mack Winter, ace blocking back, who sprained a knee. Coach Gus Miller is casting speculative glances at freshman backs as his regulars limp about. Almost certainly the best of the frosh will see action against Texas Tech in Lubbock on September 26.

Miller hopes, however, that his starting lineup will be made up largely of lettermen and squadmen. Should the injured ones be able to go, the lineup might look like this: Left end, Leslie Curb; left tackle, Co-Captain Johnny Thomas; left guard, Duncan Kirkpatrick; center, Leo Steinkoenig; right guard, O. C. Rampley; right tackle, James Love; right end, Buford Emler; quarterback, Mack Winter; left halfback, Joed Forbus; right halfback, J. W. Anderson; fullback, Curtis Kelley.

The line would average 187 pounds and the backfield 184 pounds. The chief weaknesses of the Buffs this season are in the backfield where kicking and passing are lacking. The club's greatest strength is expected to be in its defense, especially against the weaker clubs of the Border Conference. Rough going is expected against the veteran club of Texas Tech.

Vol McClanahan was charged yesterday in the court of Mrs. W. J. Flesher, Justice of the Peace Precinct 4, assault with intent to murder. His bond was set at $1,500. He will appear before the grand jury in district court Sept. 28.

McClanahan had volunteered in the navy and was leaving Friday for Dallas. He waited for his former employer, Bruce Daniel, with the excuse of wishing to bid him goodbye. McClanahan is alleged to have hit Daniel and then jumped on him when Daniel went down under the blow. Daniel was badly injured and taken to the hospital for treatment.

Legion Gets Into the Scrap Collection Job

Scrap Iron, Metal, Rubber Drive to Cover County—Fair Results Achieved So Far

The American Legion is getting behind the scrap drive in Randall county.

At the meeting Monday night Post Commander T. A. Black appointed Dr. H. A. Brown, Geo. A. Farlow and J. W. Kleinschmidt as a committee to organize the scrap drive and to carry it to all parts of the county.

The scrap pile at the Consumer Fuel Association continues to grow, states Jeff Wallace. The Boy Scouts have turned in a lot of junk during the past two weeks.

It is believed that the scrap-iron supply of Randall county has hardly been touched in this drive. There are scores of old farm machines which have not been torn down and delivered to the scrap pile.

The federal government has issued appeals after appeals for all citizens to gather up all of the scrap iron, steel, copper, brass, rubber and tin in automobile bodies and deliver it to the nearest junk yard.

The Legion is going to scour the county to see if old iron may be located and then see to it that this material is put into the war effort in making guns, tanks, guns and planes.

History of W. T. Is Achievement

Indications Good for Studes In Spite of War: Many Boys Are in the Reserve Corps

West Texas State College, the state institution founded here in 1910, will open its books on Tuesday, September 22, on its 33rd year of service to the Panhandle of Texas.

Its prospects for the coming session, in spite of and in some particulars because of the war, are good. There will be fewer young men enrolled, of course, but demands for boarding accommodations have broken all records. Among the men on the campus will be Navy air cadets and Army Air Corps trainees who will be taking the 8-week CPT course at the College Airport. Nearly one hundred men will be military reservists here for specialized training. Pre-draft age high school boys will not at once be affected although most of them will be eligible to become reservists.

Faculty members, about 25 per cent of whom will be new—replacements of faculty men in war service—will have their first gathering at a breakfast in Cousins Hall Monday morning at 8 o'clock. On Monday evening, many of them will attend the first assembly at the Amarillo Center. Freshmen will arrive on Tuesday, September 22, to take psychological and English tests at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. All first year students are expected to take these tests, which will be used in guiding them through a successful college career. Sophomores, and upper classmen will register on Tuesday but freshmen will not enroll until Wednesday. Classes will begin Thursday. The annual fall reception for all students will be given by the faculty on Saturday evening.

An all-time high in enrollment at West Texas State was reached two years ago when the number passed 1200 students in the regular session. As in nearly all institutions, this total was not maintained last year at the College. Summer enrollment passed the 800 mark, in addition to nearly 200 pupils in the

The time for registration of houses, rooms and apartments under the rent control administration has not been extended to Oct. 1 stated Riley Strickland yesterday.

Two members of the staff will be at the City Hall in Canyon Saturday morning from 8 to 12:30 o'clock. At that time Mr. Strickland urges that all citizens who have not registered shall do so.

"Owing to the fact that our office force has been limited and we have not been able to spend as much time in Canyon as anticipated, I shall continue to accept registrations up to Saturday noon," stated Mr. Strickland.

Every person in Canyon who rents to one or more persons must register their property, according to regulations.

Mrs. Geo. Schaeffer Has Fine Feed Crop

Mrs. George W. Schaeffer brought some samples of Red Top Cane to the News office yesterday. The stalks averaged from 7 to 9 feet high.

The cane was planted broadcast in the middle of July when the grounds was almost completely dry. Rains came and now the 150 acre field is a mass of tall, fine stalks. The stalks are small because they are so thick on the ground, but will make excellent feed. Heads are forming and if there is a late freeze there will be plenty of grain. However, Mrs. Schaeffer is more interested in a good feed crop than in the grain.

Mr. Schaeffer is in the army Camp in Colorado. When home in July he did not believe that the crop would make anything, and no doubt will be highly gratified to hear of the fine crop which has developed with the fall rains.

Mrs. Schaeffer is carrying on the extensive farm operations while her husband and oldest son are serving in the army. And she is doing a swell job, as proven by this crop.

DEMOCRACY MUDDLES THROUGH

No doubt the Nazi are sneering at the muddling process by which the Democracies handle the war. Under dictatorship, no one is allowed to criticize; no one is allowed to think, or to offer suggestions. In our Democracy, every one has a right to think and speak as he likes, so long as he does not reveal military secrets, and so long as his speech does not incite revolt against the government.

Members of Parliament are criticizing Churchill, and men are permitted to make speeches on the streets of London against the government. It is a good safety valve—this popping off process of saying what you think—within bounds of reason.

The United States certainly has been going through a muddling process. Thanks to the wonderful ingenuity of this nation, we shall win the war eventually, but not until thousands of men have paid with their lives for the mistakes which are being made.

However, all of us feel that we are great military experts, and like to argue that if the English would do so and so; if the Russians would strike here; if the commanders were all kicked out and we selected the new one; that if we would furnish the Chinese such and such war machines; that if MacArthur was given the supreme command of all United Nations; that if we would not listen to the blundering British; that if we would open a second front; that if the English would only fight; that if we would seize all French territory; and so and so and on and on—yes, sir, if all of the military ideas that all of us have were put into effect at once, there sure would be a terrible mess—much worse than we have now.

Yet we have people right here in Canyon who can tell you absolutely, without question, just what should be done to win the war in a hurry, and that all of the leadership is a failure because their advice is not being taken.

No wonder all this confusion. Have you ever stopped to figure out all of the forces which are causing so much confusion in this war.

We are all suckers for news. Most of us listen to a dozen or so radio broadcasts every day. The more we hear the more confused we become. During the World War I we read a brief official announcement in the morning papers, and then we returned to our work to wait for the newspaper the next morning to tell us what had happened during the past 24 hours. The news was rather official and almost authentic by this method when time was taken to secure accurate reports.

Now we are disgusted if we cannot hear a fresh news broadcast every hour and listen to a news commentator between times. Have you noted how often the news broadcaster stops his reading and puts in his nickel's worth of opinion about the subject he is presenting? Then these commentators? Who are they? Fellows with some idea on every subject which they usually try to put over. Too often their ideas are pretty badly clouded.

Then we have these heads of departments who are working at logger-heads. These fellows are like the army and navy officers who were responsible for the disgrace at Pearl Harbor by refusing to co-operate. Washington is filled with a million war workers. Each department has an elaborate press bureau sending out so-called news dispatches which are often pure propaganda for the benefit of some individual who happens to be head of such and such a bureau. Too often these heads are small boys with big pants who know nothing about the jobs which they have undertaken and are making a mess of the public's business—like the little fellow who handled the synthetic rubber situation.

The constant babble of voices is hard on the nerves. No wonder this country has lost so many valuable men because of heart failure due to constant worry.

The radio is a wonderful thing, and is getting a real tryout during this war as a disseminator of news in a worldwide crisis. But after all, there should be more responsibility in the manner in which the news is handled, and all of us should quit steaming ourselves up to a boiling point so many times every day.

Advice is cheap, but we all know that we would be better off, and the war would be won a lot quicker if every one of us would leave the direction of the war to military men, and the balance of us devote our time to our own business and putting our spare money in Bonds, while we give our spare time in performing the various and sundry jobs which the government is asking from us.

The rubber situation is no joke. In fact it is the most serious aspect of the war. It is something that every citizen can do something about. If all of the rubber on all of the cars of the nation were taken for the war, the rubber situation would be solved for the army. But if such drastic steps became necessary chaos would result. This nation has been on wheels so long that our entire economic system is built on the assumption that there would always be rubber to carry on our fast moving commerce. This could not be interrupted without seriously jeopardizing our national safety. It was first recommended that driving time be set at 45 miles per hour; then this was reduced to 40 miles per hour; now the demand is 35 miles, and do not be surprised any day to see Congress pass a federal law setting the speed at 35 miles per hour.

David Lawrence, super critic of the administration, is now blasting that Selective Service has been unfairly and badly managed. Perhaps if Mr. Lawrence was called upon to devote about half of his time serving on a Selective Service board he would change his tune. Naturally there are some boys who try to escape military service and have to be treated rough; naturally some boards have made mistakes in handling their cases. But to blast the whole system because of these isolated errors is grossly unjust. Mr. Lawrence would like to run the government, and if such an unfortunate thing should happen, his administration would be a greater muddle than we are now having.

THE "WHY" OF SCRAP

As furnaces are roaring to produce more steel for tanks, planes and guns, Uncle Sam's scrap pile is rapidly diminishing. The need for scrap and more scrap is becoming daily more critical.

It might be asked why in this land of plenty, with its huge deposits of iron ore, there is such an urgent unprecedented demand for scrap iron and steel. There are good reasons. Steel is made of scrap and pig iron—metal melted from iron ore. Even in normal times scrap supplies about one-half the raw material for steel production—and the reason behind it is that scrap contains much valuable alloy material which is recovered in steel production. With the shortage in critical materials—such as nickel, tungsten, chromium and other metals needed for the many types of alloy for the production of weapons—such recovery becomes all the more imperative. Too, while there is abundant ore available for the production of pig iron, much labor and extensive transportation facilities are needed to mine, purify and transport the ore to the steel mills.

These are only a few reasons why scrap collection of the ferrous metals and other materials is essential to war production. The salvaging of scrap is a job for every man, woman and child in America. We must dig—and dig deep—in the "mine-above-the-ground" the rich reserve of junk which wasteful America has accumulated through the years. Those mining operations may well determine whether—and how soon—we will win the war!

Men of military age should not listen to all of the babble which goes on as to what is going to happen to them. About 99% of the information is the guess of some petty official who knows litttle, but guesses a lot. Out of a clear sky the other day Secretary Stimson announced that all college men who were in the various reserve corps would be called up. The Secretary made that announcement without conferring with any one in Washton. Secretary Knox announced immediately that the army might call up reserves but the navy did not intend doing this. Young men are advised to stay in school as long as possible, and not get excited because they hear some one state that all of them will be called up at once. The President indicates he is opposed to calling the 18 and 19 year olds into service this year in spite of a bill pending in Congress.

Congress has started to work on the President's ultimatum to pass legislation by October 1 to retard inflation. We liked the tone of the President in telling Congress to do something now, rather than putting it off until after election. But we did not like his demand that farm prices be limited with a solid ceiling while labor be based upon the price of living. In this instance the President again played into the hands of the comparatively small group of organized labor. This group is the only group of workers in the nation who is profiting by the stimulus of war, and is reaping a rich reward for war-time work. The balance of labor is worse off than it was before the war started. Senator Tom Connally and other stalwarts have served notice that they will vote for a ceiling on farm products only when a ceiling is placed on organized labor.

The charge of Barnard Baruch and his associates is that the entire synthetic rubber deal has been bungled by little men without any experience in handling things over which they had control. It was a mistake of judgment rather than any criminal acts on the part of those who were charged with the authority. Baruch handled war production under President Wilson and came through that war with the highest regard of all people of the nation. He is doing a patriotic service in helping President Roosevelt with the problems of this war.

The City Commission is doing a fine job of cleaning up the city. Commissioner B. F. Oatis has taken charge of the streets and alleys. As fast as the city trucks can get around, all trash and rubbish is being removed. Every citizen should do everything within his power to assist the City Commission in its effort to keep the town clean. After all, this is our home, and all of us should strive to make it the best town in the nation.

Henry J. Kaiser will have the opportunity of building a huge transport plane in spite of the opposition of aviation experts. Kaiser says he can make big planes which will do the job; the experts say he cannot do it; and it was only a few years ago that everyone thought the Wright brothers were crazy.

Governor Stevenson protests gasoline rationing in Texas. About 53% of all taxes collected in Texas come from oil. The Governor shows how greatly the institutions of Texas will suffer if gasoline rationing is as severe as that imposed on eastern states.

Virgil Henson Talks at Rotary Luncheon on the War Aims

Virgil Henson was in charge of the program at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday. He discussed the war, and the aims of the United Nations in the war.

There are those who scoff at Hitlerism, stated the speaker. The fate of this nation hangs in the balances today, just as it did during the Revolutionary War. Times have changed since the days of Patrick Henry and those other patriotic Americans who fought for liberty, but the fight for freedom today is as vital to the future of America as was then.

Asuming that Hitler might win a partial victory and not be entirely defeated, the speaker pointed out that American capital and labor would have to compete with Hitler's slaves. The survival of religion depends upon a complete victory. Those who assume we can live with a victorious, or even partial victorious Hitler, should look at the conquered nations of Europe. We cannot win so long as strikes, strife and fussing between groups of our people continue.

Both the Axis and United Nations have issued their aims for the war and the peace after the war. The aim of the Axis is suppression of all enemy nations. The United Nations promise freedom of speech; freedom of religion; freedom from want; freedom from fear, for all peoples of all nations.

Mr. Henson believes that the United Nations will not make the same mistake as in 1918, when an idealistic peace plan was adopted and then our enemy allowed to rearm. This time our enemies must be disarmed and must be kept disarmed. The one big job ahead of all of us is to win the war and then win the peace.

Dr. Seth Fessenden was introduced as a new member of the club. He is the new head of the Speech Department of West Texas State.

President Marion Bishir announced that a club assembly would be held next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The District Governor will visit the Rotary Club next week and the luncheon will be held on Wednesday instead of on Tuesday.

MRS. DONALD E. SAVAGE

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Betty Brandon of Plainview and Lieutenant Donald E. Savage of Denver, Colo., Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church in Plainview. Rev. L. B. Reavis and Dr. John W. Webb were officiating ministers at the single ring service.

A fifteen-minute organ concert was given by Mrs. Mildred Myers, organist, who accompanied Judge and Mrs. Frank Day who sang "Indian Love Call" (Friml) and "I Love You Truly" (Bond). She played the regulation wedding marches with "Love's Old Sweet Song" as the ceremony piece.

The altar was banked with greenery and held lighted white candles. Floor baskets of white dahlias and standards, holding lighted white tapers, stood at either side.

M. C. Brandon gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a floor-length white silk jersey dress with jacket of Chantilly lace and finger tip veil of bridal illusion. The dress was made with torso-length fitted bodice and full skirt. She carried a white Bible, the gift of a friend, topped with an orchid and small white rose buds showered with white satin ribbon and stephanotis. Her only ornament was a cameo locket which belonged to her mother..

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Pat Hardesty of Cresson, Texas, matron of honor, and Miss Mary Higgs Brandon of Plainview, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linnie Walker and Miss Mildred McGlasson of Plainview and Miss Betty Gose of Amarillo.

The attendants wore silk jersey dresses patterned after that of the bride. The matron and maid of honor wore bright blue and carried white dahlias and lily petals, showered with white satin ribbon. Miss Walker and Miss McGlasson wore rust color and Miss Gose wore gold. Their bouquets were bronze dahlias and gladioli showered with bronze satin ribbon.

Mrs. M. C. Brandon of Plainview, mother of the bride was dressed in black. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. F. E. Savage of Canyon, wore brown with white accessories. Each wore a gardenia corsage.

Winston Savage of Pampa attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Mac Brandon, Elton Flake, and Archie Keys of Plainview and J. William Brown of Wheeler, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Reception Is Given

Following the wedding a reception was given in the home of Judge and Mrs. Frank R. Day, 1409 West Seventh, Plainview, for members of the wedding party and out of town guests. The wedding cake was served with punch.

After the reception Lieut. and Mrs. Savage left for a short honeymoon at a mountain lodge in Colorado before going to Denver where they will be at home at 1000 Sherman. For traveling Mrs. Savage wore a black tailored suit with black and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Brandon, graduated from Wilson High School. She finished Wayland College, Plainview, and took the B. S. degree in physical education in January, 1942 from West Texas State College, Canyon where she belonged to Delta Zeta Chi social club. She taught at Floydada last semester.

Who's Afraid of Air Raid?

Quietly and quickly, rural pupils at Rockaway Beach School, California, go through their air raid drills. Here fourth grade children answer the air raid signal by heading for the air raid room with blankets on which they will lie until the all-clear signal is given.

Education—Not Regimentation

There's a world of difference between the carefree, eager feet of these youngsters heading up the school steps, and the regimented, heavy-booted marching tread of children in axis lands. Here in a picture is the difference between our way of life and that of our enemies.

Demonstration School and more than 600 in extension and correspondence classes. The institution each year gives instruction to more than 3,000 persons. In other words, it is neither "a small college" nor yet a large one. One of its chief assets, and one mentioned often by students is its democratic atmosphere and general friendliness. It has social clubs, but no national fraternities. Its religious organizations among students are among the most active in the Southwest.

The white man's civilization on the plains was young when the Texas legislature was called upon by the citizens to place a state college in this territory. There were few affiliated high schools and higher education, which was high only in a relative sense, was confined to small academies. The only kind of college which seemed attainable appeared to be the "normal school." Such a college was authorized in 1909 and an administration building, power plant, well house, and elevated water tank were ready within little more than a year. Canyon had been given the college because of its donation of a beautiful site and $100,100.00 in money. The observations that it was a good home town, away from big city temptations, and "dry" are said to have influenced the locating committee.

On September 18, 1910, President R. B. Cousins assembled his faculty of sixteen persons at the Randall County Courthouse. The administration building was not ready for occupancy. Two days later 135 students appeared and were organized into classes on three levels. Despite the difficulties of that first year, the students evidently benefited much—they have said so through the years which have followed. Their classrooms overlooked a prairie dog "town" which the animals did not choose to vacate. Only a few years before, the campus had been a favorite site for roundups. Evidences of buffalo trails were still fresh.

President Cousins inspired and dominated the educational scene and deeply impressed both faculty members and students through his stirring assembly talks. A former state superintendent, he was an able educational statesman. He had chosen his faculty with extreme care, and with a heavy accent on character and personality. And this faculty was to place its stamp upon Panhandle education and to raise the standards of excellence to the top of Texas.

The college and the town grew rapidly. The curriculum was quickly broadened and junior college rank was firmly established. And then—disaster!

On March 25, 1914, flames started by a repairman's blow torch in an attic spread and, fanned by a high wind, soon destroyed the main plant. But even before the last embers were quenched, President Cousins called the faculty into his home, implored divine guidance, and expressed his determination to carry on. Students rallied and classes were resumed in churches, the courthouse, and other buildings. Then came two years in the shacks while a new structure was being erected.

Came a proud day in April, 1916, when the new building was occupied—one of the finest structures ever built for educational purposes in Texas, then and now. It is 310 feet long by 200 feet in depth, of three stories and basement, and including a large auditorium, a women's gymnasium, and an indoor swimming pool.

Then came World War I. Many boys left the campus. Some did not return. Their names are on a plaque in the main auditorium. A Student Army Training Camp was set up and housed in what is now Randall Hall, cooperative dormitory for girls. There were casualty lists, epidemics, and problems of post-war adjustments.

But progress after the war was rapid. In 1917 the state colleges were authorized to go on a four-year basis and to grant bachelor's degrees. West Texas State's first degree class was graduated in 1919. Complete recognition of the high quality of work being done came in 1925 with admission to the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Dr. R. B. Cousins had resigned on September 1, 1918, and Prof. J. A. Hill, head of the department of history and a member of the original faculty, was elevated to the presidency. Rapid progress was made under his direction. A model Education Building was erected in 1928. Cousins Hall had been built earlier as the first dormitory for girls on a state college campus. The Panhandle-Plains Museum was constructed in 1933 despite the depression. Stafford Hall, for men, was completed in 1936; the El Pueblo cottages were constructed for rental purposes; Buffalo Courts, music studios, field house, a health center, and other structures were added. A Home Management house was built and dedicated to the memory of the late Phebe K. Warner.

PWA and WPA are initials which will live long in brick, stone, and mortar on the campus. Student labor also was liberally used. The Texas Centennial Commission added a basement annex to the Museum.

In recent months the building program has been accelerated. Halted as a war aid but destined to be completed are additions to Randall Hall and to the Museum. The latter has been made possible by financing drives sponsored by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and a brick drive directed by the Globe-News. The Museum has a permanent place in the affections of thousands of Panhandle residents. It was the first to be built on a college campus in the South. Dr. L. F. Sheffy, as executive secretary, has had a large part in the development of the museum.

Scheduled for near-completion by Christmas is a new $170,000 Science Building. Lack of heating and lighting facilities may delay occupation of this beautiful structure. Meanwhile, many improvements have been made on the grounds and a dahlia trial grounds has been made an outstanding beauty spot.

Led the fight for senior college rank.

Gave the first graduate work in its group of state colleges.

Erected the best demonstration school building in the Southwest.

Led the museum movement among state colleges of the South.

Furnished half a dozen presidents for other colleges.

Attained national recognition in football and basketball.

Assisted Panhandle high schools to become leaders in Texas education.

Organized the first pilot training program among the state colleges.

Inaugurated Religious Emphasis Week in state colleges.

Introduced the Family Relations week.

Furnished teachers to nearly every school within a radius of 150 miles and beyond and drew students from the same sources.

Significant also in the development of West Texas was the decision of the Board of Regents, more than two years ago, to broaden the curriculum to a general college status. The college already was offering the Bachelor of Business Administration degree, in addition to the B. A., B. S., and M. A. Hundreds of students were going into business, the professions, and vocations other than teaching. Since that decision was made, emphasis has been placed upon pre-professional training and service to Panhandle businesses and industries. The immediate increase in enrollment was perhaps illustrative of the need for a general college offering.

The last long session was significant in that gifts to the institution were the largest in its history. Outstanding among these were the gift of the Early Building, where the Amarillo Center is now located; the James D. Hamlin collection of art objects, valued at more than $50,000; and the highly valuable Floyd V. Studer collection of archaeological materials.

Of immediate interest in connection with the Fall session is the launching of the Amarillo Center, where many department heads and other instructors from the main campus will offer courses. On the local campus, much attention will be given to a sweeping revision of college administration being effected by President Hill. Here again, West Texas State is taking the lead. Upper, lower, and graduate divisions have been created. Schools of Education, Business and Public Administration, and Liberal Arts have been created. The divisions are headed by deans and the schools by chairmen. Curriculum revision and expansion of the guidance program will result.

The purpose: To provide a more effective college program in order that the training of Panhandle boys and girls and the offering of graduate instruction may be made more efficient. The demands for graduates is far exceeding the supply. Work at West Texas State is standard in quality, broad in variety, and everywhere recognized and accepted by the chief accrediting agencies. Ex-students of the institution are among the nation's leaders in Education, business, the profesisons, and in the military services. Ex-students fell at Pearl Harbor, on Bataan, and in Java and hundreds are going into action.

For the duration, the major aim of West Texas State is war service. A recent digest of its wartime activities covered nearly a score of typewritten pages. President Hill has declared that there can be nothing as important as the winning of the war.

addition to the one owned by the Flying Club. He hopes to secure the approval for designation within a few days and will then have an important announcement regarding plans to develop the field.

About 18 months ago it was announced that Canyon was on the approved list of towns to receive government aid for the development of an airport. The Chamber of Commerce has contacted Congressman Eugene Worley and Senator Tom Connally to ascertain what the status of this appropriation is and to rush the matter in Washington if possible.

A class of 10 to 20 students will continue to take flying lessons at West Texas State, and with the large number of Canyon people who are becoming interested in flying there is greater need for a designated field.

The present field consists of only 200 acres which was leased by President J. A. Hill. Dr. Hill is anxious for the success of the new enterprise as a designated field will be more valuable to the students. While this amount of land is not sufficient for large planes, it will take care of present needs until the flying demand is increased.

Mr. Cox believes that aviation is in its mere infancy so far as the general use of planes is concerned. More people will continue to fly, and after the war is over the boys now in aviation will continue to be air-minded. The need for an adequate field will increase with the years is the belief of those interested in aviation.

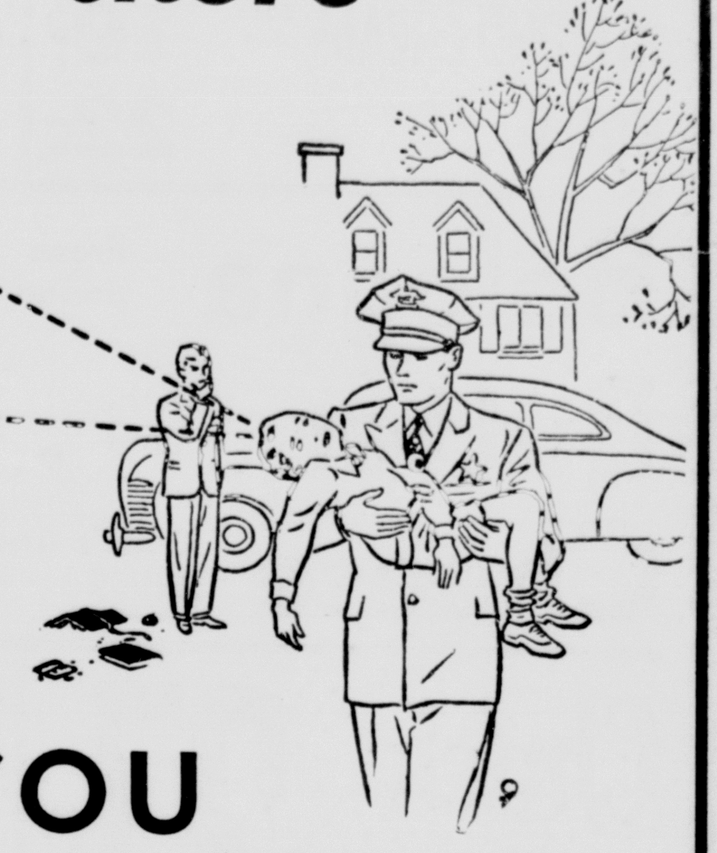
The Little Boy Who wasn't there



LAST YEAR 276 CHILDREN WERE HURT BETWEEN HOME AND SCHOOL

It was nine o'clock in the morning, the opening day of school. The teacher called the roll and everybody answered by holding up his hand. Everybody, that is, except little Frank Wallace. He wasn't there.

Frank was in the hospital with his little body mangled. His head hung at an unnatural angle. Both his legs were broken and he was coughing blood. The doctor shook his head. Mrs. Wallace stood their, sobbing quietly and Mr. Wallace clenched and opened his fists—

YOU KILLED FRANK WALLACE! You drivers who relied on your horn, rather than on your brakes, on good luck rather than on good sense. You took that little boy out of a classroom where he belonged, and put him into a cold, damp grave.

Drivers, be careful! Little children don't always stop to think before running into the street. We who are older must think for them. We must have our cars in good condition so that we can stop when we have to. We must go slowly in school zones, obey the traffic warnings and the schoolboy safety patrol.

We must save lives, not squander them.

YOU

ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR HIM

IF you haven't seen to it that your car is in good condition, with the brakes, lights, and steering all functioning perfectly.

IF you don't drive slowly enough to bring your car to a complete stop within 2 feet in a school zone, or if you disobey any warning or traffic signs or signals or the directions of the schoolboy safety patrol.

IF you do not at all times do your duty as a citizen by respecting the rights of others, whether they are fellow drivers or unsuspecting children, and by safeguarding those rights as you would safeguard your own.

Regulations For Purchase of New Cars Are Given

Under a change in rationing regulations, new automobile purchase certificates will not be granted hereafter to applicants who have disposed of cars adequate for their needs since January 1 of this year, W. J. Wooten, chairman of the Randall County War Price and Rationing Board, announced today.

"The test of the adequacy of such a car will be the same as it would be if the car were now owned by the applicant," Mr. Wooten emphasized.

Mr. Wooten also directed especial attention to provisions of this amendment which change the conditions under which men in the armed forces may dispose of automobiles.

"Hereafter, unrestricted sale of a new car by an inductee into the armed forces will be permitted only when it becomes certain that the seller actually will enter the service," he said.

"Previously, an inductee with a 1942 model car could sell it, even to a buyer who could not qualify for a certificate under the rationing regulations, as soon as the seller received notice to report for induction.

"If the seller was rejected on final physical examination but meanwhile had sold his car, he would have done so under a provision of the regulation that was intended only for those who actually go into the service."

This has now been changed, he explained, because of the greater number of rejections on physical examination at the induction point.

Another change, also, is that hereafter, members of the armed forces who acquire new automobiles after entering the service will be permitted to sell them thereafter only to certificate holders or to members of their own families.

Schoolmaids in Home-Mades

Dorothy Baker, left, and Janice Richey, come to school in smart creations they designed themselves. Dorothy's dress, of brown and yellow seersucker, cost only $2.50. The brown and white broadcloth dress made by Janice's mother is also inexpensive, but definitely smart.

Dr. H. A. Brown Gets Chinese Dollar

Randall county went over its quota for this fund.

He received the dollar in this recognition.

PHILLIPS CREW MOVED

The pipe line construction crew which is building a line from Hobbs, N. M., to Borger left Tuesday after spending three weeks here. The crew moved on to Borger where it will be housed until the line is completed into the Phillips plant.

The pipe line runs the entire length of Randall county.

Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Dorsett have returned from Houston where he preached Sunday.
